Court orders Bay school board revise policies, pay attorney

By RICH ADAMS

An out-of-court settlement Tuesday ordered the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School Board and Superintendent to revise controversial policies and make partial payment of plaintiffs' attorney fees.

A $20,000 damage suit was filed August 14, 1979 against the board by the North Bay Parent-Teacher Organization; the Bay St. Louis Local, American Federation of Teachers; and several school patrons.

The suit alleged two of the board's policies were unconstitutional and demanded the policies be revised.

The original suit, filed in U.S. District Court in Biloxi, also alleged that the board practiced "intentional denial of...civil rights."

Tuesday at 3:30 p.m. U.S. Magistrate John Roper signed an order directing the board to change policies and pay the plaintiffs $3,500 in attorney fees.

"Although my clients feel there has been no violation of the law," School Board Attorney Lucien Gex said Tuesday, "they have accepted these new policies in an effort to encourage cooperation and a constructive exchange of information between the Board and the parents, teachers, and students of the school district."

Gerald Blessey, attorney for the plaintiffs, said Tuesday, "My clients are satisfied that this compromise will assure their constitutional rights and will provide an opportunity for a more open channel of communication with the board and the superintendent without discrimination among groups or individuals seeking access to the school board."

The plaintiffs in their complaint called for revision of the board's controversial Policy 18 and copying policy, in addition to demanding the board publicize special and emergency meetings in advance.

The present Policy 18 establishes a 'chain-of-command' which a patron or teacher must follow in order to be listed on the board's agenda.

That present policy also states that representatives of organizations, such as teacher unions and parent groups, may not address the board.

The main distinctions between the present policy and the new Policy 18 are that the new guidelines allow a representative of a group to express opinions of the organization before the board; that notices and agendas of all regular and special board meetings must be publicized via radio and newspapers prior to the meetings; and

Child abuse-Part two

What educators, medical people should look for

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second installment in our series on child abuse which will explore this problem from the standpoint of professionals who encounter abused children or families. The following article is one of several reports which will explore various aspects of this growing local problem.

We will also offer suggestions on how help may be found.

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

Most experts agree professional medical people and teachers have the most frequent and objective contact with abused children and families.

Although state law protects professionals who submit child abuse reports and requires these people to reveal abuse cases to the Department of Public Welfare—statistics show friends, relatives and neighbors still make most child abuse reports.

Dr. Catherine Lundy of Waveland, Gulf Coast Mental Health Center psychologist and coordinator of Hancock County Services says, "There are signs teachers can look for in children they suspect are being abused."

"One of the things teachers and coaches can look for is mood changes," Dr. Lundy reports.

"For instance, if a normally active child doesn't want to participate in sports," Dr. Lundy says.

"Often, physical education teachers will see children who won't want to take off their shoes or jackets; or they will cringe with just a friendly pat on the back," the psychologist reports.

"This child has lowered expectations and lowered self esteem," Dr. Lundy explains.

"Some children are disruptive and act out aggression with their classmates," Dr. Lundy says.

"Sometimes abused children become thieves and will take inconsequential objects. Taking something they don't have is a sign of lack of nurturance," the psychologist explains.

"Younger children will use doll projections and play with dolls like their parents treat them. When a parent hits the child (to the abused child) it means the parent doesn't love them," Dr. Lundy states.

Regarding what professional medical people should look for in suspected abused children, Dr. Lundy reports, "A recent study of some 5,000 abusive parents found certain things correlated with an abusing family."

The study, titled "Toward Prevention of Child Abuse," reports that an abusing parent or parents:

GOP primary Tuesday despite Bush decision

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

The Republican Presidential Preference Primary in Hancock County and throughout Mississippi will be held Tuesday despite George Bush's Monday decision to drop out of the presidential race.

Evelyn McPhail of Diamondhead, state Republican committeewoman stated Wednesday morning, "The primary will be held as scheduled on June 3."

"According to the Republican headquarters in Jackson, the State Attorney General has said the law stipulates that the election will be held to determine the delegates, but no provision was made to cancel the primary," McPhail explained.

The Mississippi Republican primary slate has four delegates for Bush, and four delegates and four alternate delegates for the presidential candidate Ronald Reagan.

Clarke Reed of Greenville, Republican national committeeman said Tuesday, "Bush's withdrawal will not help interest in the primary, but I think most people had already recognized that the election was over before Bush pulled out."

"I hope people will want to vote and show the rest of the country that Reagan has a lot of support in Mississippi. I hope they will go vote and do their duty," Reed stated.

Hunt plans second deep well near Catahoula

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

Hunt Energy Corp. of Dallas, Tex. is planning to drill its second 23,000-foot well in Hancock County near the Catahoula Community.

The proposed well will be about 10 miles north of another Hunt Smackover test well now being drilled just off of Bayou LaCroix Road (No. 1 Crosby well).

The minimum cost of each well is estimated at $7 million.

Mike Blackwell, Hunt Energy's district geophysicist in Jackson, said Tuesday morning, "Penrod Drilling Co. will begin drilling this well as soon as they get a rig. They'll be using a brand new rig on this well."

"We've staked a location about 10 miles north of the Smackover test well underway. The new well will be called the Rhoda Lee Brown well and I believe the location will be Section 28, Range Six South, Township 15 West," the Hunt geophysicist reported.

A spokesman for the Mississippi Oil and Gas Board in Jackson said Tuesday morning they did not, as of yet, have any information about the new Smackover well.

When asked why the company is drilling another Smackover test before the results of the No. 1 Crosby well are known, Blackwell replied, "There are different types of geological techniques involved here and we feel that it will take two wells to find out what is in that formation."

"At this time we don't know which well will be better," Blackwell added.

"We've estimated if we hit a dry hole on one of these wells, our company will

BITTEN BY GATOR—Wayne Ladner, 23, of Bay St. Louis assists Bay police in capturing a six-foot alligator at an Old Spanish Trail residence near Seube Street. Ladner and George Anderson, also of Bay St. Louis, successfully captured the reptile Tuesday evening, but Ladner was bitten while turning the gator over to Mississippi Game and Fish Commission Warden Pat Toomey in front of Parker's Grocery and Hardware Store. Patrolman Larry Ladner of the Bay Police Department said the alligator escaped after biting the Bay man, but was recaptured by Toomey, and Lee and Ronnie Ferrel then set free in Jourdan River. A Hancock General Hospital spokesman said Wednesday Ladner was in satisfactory condition with bite wounds to the lower left leg. The Bay policeman warned that anyone seeing an alligator should call a local law enforcement since these reptiles are very dangerous. (Staff photo by Edgar Perez)

Junior Fishing Rodeo slated on Ulman Pier

By EDGAR PEREZ

Every participant who enters a fish will be a winner in the Bay-Waveland Rod and Gun Club's sixth annual Junior Fishing Rodeo Saturday.

The event will be headquartered this year at the Ulman Avenue Pier in Bay St. Louis, according to Frank Ladner, club spokesman.

Fishing may begin at 4 p.m. Friday which will allow entry of flounders gilled that night as well as other fish caught that night on hook and line.

Ladner said scales will open at 8 a.m. and close at 4 p.m. Saturday.

Fishing must take place in and around the Bay St. Louis area. "And good sportsmanship is required and expected of all participants at all times," the club's rules state.

Fishermen from six to 15 years-of-age are eligible. All children four and five years old are eligible to participate in a special "Blue Crab Division" but must be accompanied by a parent.

Eligible fish include speckled trout, redfish, croaker, flounder, ground mullet, white trout, sheepshead, drum, green trout, blue gill and shell cracker.

All fish must be caught on hook and line except flounder which may be gilled.

First, second and third place prizes will be awarded for each eligible fish, and similar prizes will be awarded for the total number of eligible fish caught.

First through 10th place prizes will be awarded in the Blue Crab Division.

Awards will be made at the pier about 4:30 p.m. Saturday and will include naming king and queen fishermen based on a per-prize point system.

"A prize will be given to all registered fishermen who enter a fish in the rodeo," Ladner explained.

In addition, all registered fishermen who do not win a trophy will be eligible to participate in a special prizes drawing.

Registration tent at the pier will be open from 8 a.m. until noon Saturday and all fishermen must be registered to be eligible for any prize. No fees will be charged, Ladner pointed out.

The club will operate a concession stand at the pier featuring snowballs, soft drinks and sandwiches.

Ladner noted the Bay St. Louis Police Department will assist with traffic control in the pier area to insure safety of the participants.

In addition, he noted, traffic on North Beach Boulevard will be closed after noon from US-90 through the downtown area in connection with a Downtown Merchants Festival also scheduled Saturday.

Ladner said he feels those measures will insure traffic safety around the Ulman Pier which is being used for the rodeo event for the first time this year following closure of the American Legion Pier at Washington Street.

Funding puzzles officials

Beach road repair money all washed up

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

Some $700,000 of federal Beach Boulevard restoration funds apparently are not available as previously announced by city and county officials last November.

District Four Supervisor Sam Perniciaro revealed at a meeting of the Hancock County Board of Supervisors last week that most of Beach Boulevard is no longer the responsibility of the county.

"It is strictly up to the cities to get money to repair the beach road, but people are looking at the board of supervisors to repair the road," Perniciaro said at the board meeting.

Perniciaro based his comments on a Aug. 17, 1978 letter to former Chancery Clerk John Rutherford from U.S. Department of Transportation Division Administrator Emory L. Shaw stating, "...federal funds are available to the cities for use on the federal aid urban system."

"Beach Boulevard is on the urban system and would be eligible for these funds," Shaw further states.

Board President A.A. (Dolph) Kellar said last week, "This board got notice that the beach road would be taken off state aid to urban funding. It is my understanding the federal government needs a request from the cities."

"Bay St. Louis has sent something, but Waveland hasn't," Kellar stated.

"What the board has been doing is maintaining the beach road with road and bridge funds," Kellar added.

County Engineer Lawrence Seal reported, "I don't know anything about it unless the county has been maintaining the beach road out of the goodness of its heart."

"Shaw said at this time Bay St. Louis has $49,000 of Federal Aid Urban funds they haven't used," Seal said.

However, Mayor John Longo of Waveland said Tuesday afternoon,

"Waveland doesn't qualify for urban funds. We would have to be a city over 5,000 people to qualify."

Longo said the supervisors had not contacted him about Beach Boulevard funding, but when asked if the city would maintain its portion of the road, the mayor replied, "You better believe we're going to do something."

"However, if the road doesn't belong to the city of Waveland, it really would be illegal to spend money on a road that's not ours," Longo stated.

"This situation is all new to us and something we've never encountered before. The road has been a headache, but we would be glad to maintain it," Longo reported.

"The supervisors will have to enter into something and we'll need an official letter from the county reverting the road back to the city," the mayor explained.

"We need to find out just what in the world is going on," Longo added.

Perniciaro reiterated Tuesday, "The beach road is really not the county's responsibility."

"The mayor of Bay St. Louis said he would be glad to maintain the road, but he wanted us to show him how to maintain it first," Perniciaro reported.

However, Mayor Larry Bennett of Bay St. Louis said Wednesday morning, "I was unaware of the city needing to make applications for funds, but I will present it to the city council and do whatever is necessary to obtain the funds."

When queried about the $49,000 in urban funds which the city has not used, Bennett replied, "I was not aware that $49,000 was available."

"I will have to get with the city council, but I feel sure the council would be willing to take responsibility for the beach road."

Kellar said Tuesday afternoon, "The Federal Highway Administration took the beach road off Federal Aid Secondary funds and placed the artery under Federal Aid Urban funds. Main Street in Bay St. Louis was re-surfaced with FAU funds."

"The beach road has been under urban aid since Hurricane Camille (1969). So maintenance is the responsibility of Waveland and Bay St. Louis," Kellar reported.

"The only thing the federal government would fund is that portion of the beach road outside of city limits," Kellar stated.

"The beach road restoration project was approved, but the funds were never received. The cities might have to follow up with their own applications," Kellar said.

"We've had a lot of encouragement from the highway administration that we would receive federal funds and with the new Wavepool at Buccaneer State Park it's ridiculous not to have a decent entrance road," Kellar stated.

"I don't know of anything any of the entities could do to speed up funding for the beach road project. I wish I knew what to do with this problem," Kellar said.

"We just don't have enough money in the cities and county to fix the road. The time element is what we're concerned about," Kellar explained.

"We have a beautiful new Wavepool and no decent road to get to it," Kellar reiterated.

ACCIDENT SCENE AID
Nearly a year ago the Mississippi legislature passed a bill that removes an obstacle that once stood in the path of emergency aid at the scene of an accident.

Appropriately termed Good Samaritan legislation, the measure now on the Mississippi statute books waives personal liability for persons at the scene of an accident who seek to give aid or transportation to injured persons only to have those efforts backfire in some way - real or purported.

The threat of lawsuit in the event intended aid went awry has hindered many a person from becoming involved at the accident scene - sometimes with tragic consequences for the injured person or persons whose urgent need for immediate medical aid or transportation to a hospital resulted in death.

One such example that has likely influenced many prudent bystanders in the past to remain by-standers if the frequently described contingency, if not excuse, of a person with a spinal injury being further harmed by inept handling by untrained persons who just happen to be nearby or present when a serious accident occurred. The fear of doing the wrong thing has kept many would-be good samaritans on the sideline when their services, professional or not, were sorely needed.

Now Mississippi law recognizes good intentions in such emergencies in a true sense and prevents the unscrupulous kin of the injured to even the injured himself from later bringing a damage suit if all didn't happen in a certain way in the rescue or medical efforts.

This writer has witnessed such events and bears witness to the need for the Good Samaritan provisions. On one occasion I came up being a serious automobile collision on a state highway which ultimately claimed the lives of a mother and two children. I found two ladies, two children, and an infant lying on the highway, three of which were to die shortly. The injured and dying lay on the pavement in cold rain as a circle of dozens of people watched several persons give aid and some measure of comfort pending arrival of ambulances.

The scene was an indictment of human compassion versus legal caution and restraint.

The Mississippi legislature acted wisely in voiding the conflict between the two.

The new legislation prohibits civil suit from arising whenever medially trained persons of ANYONE who acts in good faith and in exercise of reasonable care give assistance that doesn't have a rosy ending. It even covers the transporting of the injured to a point where medical assistance can be reasonably expected. An example well could be that of a wreck occurring while the Good Samaritan is transporting the victim in his own vehicle to a hospital or doctor's office.

If an accident should happen in such a case, even killing the injured person, the well intended actions of the Good Samaritan wrap a cloak of legal protection about him. The law also requires a person involved in an accident to provide certain information and assistance such as transportation to a medical station.

The measure applies with equal concern in the case of boating accidents.

SENIOR CITIZEN HAPPENINGS

By THERESA JAMES
During the week of May 19 thru 23, the Retired Senior Volunteer Program conducted White House Conference on Aging Forums in Waveland and Bay St. Louis. The purpose of the Forums is to involve the community in identifying and discussing issues related to aging.

These forums were sponsored by ACTION and reports of the results are sent to that agency and the Area Agency on Aging to be forwarded to Washington in preparation for the many other activities planned before the actual White House Conference takes place in 1981.

Communities all over the country were involved in conducting forums during May to enable all segments of the population to express their concerns about the next ten years and how life can be improved for the elderly, because May is Older Americans Month.

The five forums held here in Hancock County were very well attended and proved to be very informative. People were especially interested in having the elderly themselves provide more services in their community. Also, among the concerns expressed were providing more meals-on-wheel and better housing for the elderly.

RSVP also sponsored an awards party for Volunteers in May. This was held at the American Legion Hall in Waveland.

Jane Kennedy, Area Agency on Aging Director from Gulfport, Ms., presented awards to volunteers. Entertainment was provided by the Keesler Field Male Chorus and refreshments were served by the staff of RSVP and the Multi-purpose Center.

Door prizes were provided by: Carl Baldenhofer; Louis Smolensky; Waveland Alderman; Margaret Gavagnie for Security Savings and RSVP. Thanks to all of the people who made this a huge success.

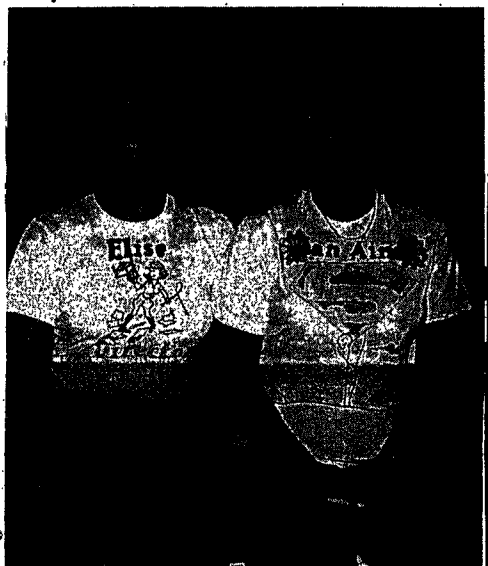

Also, in celebration of Senior Citizens month, and Volunteer Week the last week in April, the Singing Seniors performed at the Voluntary Action Fair in Jackson.

Mr. Carl Baldenhofer, RSVP art teacher, presented Governor Winter with an oil painting he made of shrimp boats.

At this ceremony, Brother Canisius Schell, an RSVP Volunteer, received a special award from the Governor for his volunteer work with the young people's program "Project Do."

Volunteers and RSVP in Hancock County are very active and continue to provide much needed services where they are needed. With inflation increasing, there is an ever growing need for volunteers to support the services provided by non-profit agencies, and we are here to help. If anyone over 60 would like to volunteer their services, please call the office. 467-9204.

Small Business legal seminar set

Small business law will be the main topic of a two-night seminar sponsored by the Sea Grant Advisory Service and conducted by members of the Harrison County Young Lawyers Association.

"The seminar is designed to help small businessmen understand their legal rights and responsibilities in typical business situations," says Zach Lea of the Sea Grant Advisory Service.

Topics to be discussed include business liability, business use of contracts, collection of bad checks, and shoplifting. Plenty of time will be allotted for question and answer sessions after each topic.

While the attorneys speaking on the various topics won't be giving legal counsel from the platform, they will be happy to discuss legal problems of a general nature.

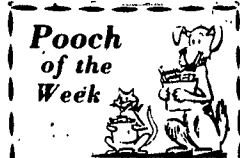

The dates for the two-night seminar are June 3 and 10. To register for this informative meeting, call the sea Grant advisory Service in Biloxi at 388-4710.

Beach Front Festival
At the Dock

Bits 'n pieces

Saturday will be a big day for the Beach Front Merchants in Bay St. Louis.

Festivities kick-off at 11 a.m. when the Bay Rotary Club will have a bike-a-thon from Main Street to Buccaneer Park and back.

Pledges made to persons participating in the bike-a-thon will be used for the Rotary's 3-H program, (health, hunger and humanities).

There will be all types of bargains offered by merchants during the Beach Front Festival from 1-6 p.m.

There will be craft booths, street dancing, all types of foods and beverages-this is an opportunity for a good time by all.

Pat Murphy Jr., the organizer of the extravaganza, should be commended on his foresight in getting such an event together.

We hope you will drop in on the fun. Remember, Beach Boulevard will be blocked off from deMontluzin Avenue to Court Street.

We had a special treat Sunday evening when we visited the rehearsals of the Waveland Players special production of "Those were the Days."

As we approached the Waveland Civic Center, we encountered a quartet practicing outside, we understand they were so good, the director didn't want them to practice inside because she felt, after consultation with the producer, the other amateurs may strike.

The play, covers a span from the roaring 20's through the dynamic 70's.

Even had one star inquire if I would like to be involved in the Charleston Dance sequence.

The big Musical Variety Show will be aired at the Civic Center on Coleman Avenue this Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m. and Sunday afternoon at 3 p.m.

Admission is only $3 per person and we feel it will be well worth the admission.

We enjoyed a visit Saturday with Coach Larry Ladner. He was the hottest basketball player in Hancock County during the early 1950's.

Larry was on his way to Venezuela at an invitation from the National Institute of Sport and Maracaibo University, for a two week trip involving coaching clinics and seminars.

Basketball coaches in all classes have been attending his annual basketball clinic in Hattiesburg for many years.

He has a coaching clinic scheduled the day after he returns and many other speaking engagements in the area while teaching summer school at the University of Mississippi Southern.

We are proud to have Larry for many years and think it is an honor for Hancock County to have one of it's people receive International recognition as an authority on basketball.

Larry is a member of the faculty at the University of Mississippi Southern in the Department of Athletic Administration and Coaching with his emphasis area being basketball.

Folks like Larry Ladner shows that Hancockians can achieve high goals like people from any other area. Keep up the good work coach!

Waveland's Mayor Johnny Longo has proclaimed Saturday, May 31, as Poppy Day.

Members of American Legion Unit 77 Ladies Auxiliary will be handing out Poppy's throughout the area Saturday.

The poppy are a Memorial Flower, which pays tribute to the war dead and aids the living veterans and their families.

We hope you wear your poppy proudly and make a nice contribution to the Auxiliary members handing them out Saturday.

One of my employees told me a good one that happened to one of the Hancock County deputies one evening when it was raining.

Seems this deputy was filling up his patrol car with gas and in order to keep dry, he jumped into the back seat and closed the door.

Everything was fine until he tried to get out and found himself locked in the 'paddy wagon.'

He was fortunate that one of our employees saw the goings on, and since he was in civilian clothes, he would not open the door for him until he displayed his badge.

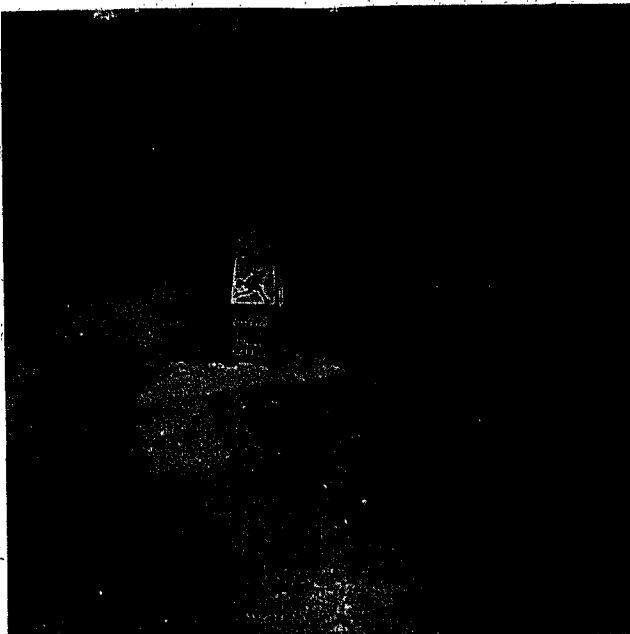

We think we know who the deputy was and have a feeling he hasn't even told the sheriff about the embarrassing situation he had gotten himself into. Oh well, it is all in a days work.

You have an opportunity of naming the new, improved Senior Aides Marketing Outlet located by the Hospitality Center on US-90, Waveland.

Name suggestions can be submitted to the Sea Coast Echo's office at 124 Court St., Bay St. Louis or mailed to The Sea Coast Echo, P.O. Box 230, Bay St. Louis.

This new center will be of great importance to the Senior members of our community as it will, afford them an outlet for crafts produced by them.

We hope an appropriate name will be submitted for this wonderful facility.

WHAT SCHOOL! A resident inquired as to where a school was on Webb Street. We went out to check for ourselves and found the sign above. The only thing we can figure out that possibly happened was that the sign may have been scheduled for the old Webb School on Third and Citizen Streets and was a little late in delivery. Now there could have been a school on Webb Street and maybe it was before our time.

Sun Tanning Harmful To Skin, Says AMA

What does your doctor think of sun tanning?

He's against it.

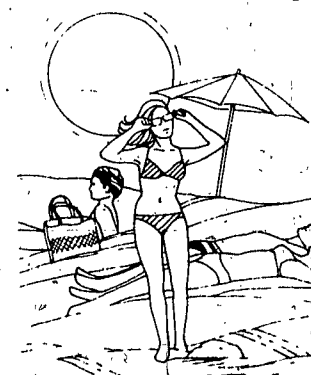

If you should ask your doctor whether there is any health value to sun tanning, he would have to answer "No." If you asked him whether sun tanning might hurt you, he would have to reply "Yes."

Sunning, overdone, can cause severe burn. Sunning, done modestly, can produce a golden tan that gives an illusion of health and well being. But that golden tan often leads to premature aging and wrinkling of the skin, to premature "age spots" on the hands and neck, and to skin cancer.

So, once again, the American Medical Association advises Americans everywhere against suntanning.

But, your doctor also is well aware that millions of Americans will ignore this advice this summer. They will flock to the swimming pools and beaches through the warm months to bask in the sun. They will stretch out on the grass in the back yard, or on the roof terrace, or in the nearest park.

If you insist on getting a tan this summer despite medical advice to the contrary, here's how to do it without burning.

On the first day of sunning, allow 15 minutes on each side. The second day 20 minutes. The third day 25 to 30 minutes. By the third day the skin should begin to brown. Hereafter proceed at the best pace for your own skin to tan without burning. At the first sign of redness, get out of the sun.

It isn't easy to confine sun time to only half an hour on the first day at the vacation resort. But you can't stretch it very much. If you try to double the exposure time to hurry the tan, you'll burn. And then return from vacation with a peeling skin instead of a tan.

Time of exposure also should be adjusted to time of day. The sun's rays are hottest between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. After 5 p.m. you aren't likely to burn much.

There are creams and lotions that screen some of the rays and reduce danger of burning. But if the cream should screen all rays, there would be no tanning. You can still burn through creams if you stay out long enough. Also, water in the pool or perspiration washes away much of the cream in a short time.

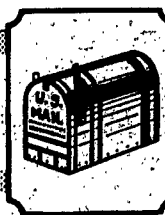

Tanning removes most of the natural oils from the surface of the skin and many sunbathers find it helpful to use a cream or oil to relieve dryness.

Enjoy the outdoor life of the summer months. Don't overdo the suntanning.

Disaster assistance in Garden Island praised by association official

May 27, 1980
Sea Coast Echo

To the Editor:

On behalf of the members of the newly-formed Garden Island Community Association, I want to express the thanks of this community to the various County and City Departments that helped out in the aftermath of May 19th's disastrous tornado.

We especially appreciate the sheriff's department's vigilant control of visitors to the damage area immediately following the tornado, their assistance to the injured, and their efficiency.

Also much appreciated was the prompt response of Beat 5 Supervisor James Travica and his crews to the immediate need of clearing roads of trees and other debris.

Our members also commented on the prompt return of electric power to the damage area (less than 24 hours) which is a great credit to the hard work and efficiency of Coast Electric's linemen.

These are only some of the responses that are outstanding in our mind. We know that many other persons and agencies (such as the Red Cross) assisted during subsequent days.

We are grateful to the local authorities for their prompt concern and assistance during and after this emergency.

Pearlington veterans advocate appreciates VA news

Editor
Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis

Dear Sir:

VA HEALTH CARE BENEFITS RAISED was a Sea Coast Echo headline May 15, 1980.

Section 38USCS, our G.I. Bill of Rights, Chap. 15, Subchap. I & II, Secs. 501 thru 562 deals with health care and pensions for, "NONSERVICE-CONNECTED DISABILITY OR DEATH." This chapter defines and mandates health care and pensions for the Veterans from the "Indian Wars through Vietnam."

In theory, if not in practice, in an emergency situation any Veteran is entitled, on a priority basis, to health care at Veterans Administration facilities. This was mandated by Congress in the SERVICEMEN'S

READJUSTMENT ACT in 1944 and amended in 1953.

The need for emergency health care aside, Section 502 of this subchapter, Para. (a), states:

"A person shall be considered to be permanently and totally disabled if such person is sixty-five years of age or older or became unemployable after age 65."

If we're both right and the otherwise ineligible Veteran is eligible at age 65 and by the E&I Act of 1979 becomes so eligible in 1980, said Veteran of WWI would have been three years old in 1918.

Please continue to keep the Gulf Coast Veterans up to date and I am Sincerely yours,
Lawrence F. Parker

Flag disrespect at Wave Pool is oversight

May 22, 1980
Editor
Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis

Dear Sir:

I recently went, as many of us have, to visit the newest edition of the State Park, the Wave Pool. This magnificent accomplishment of man is certainly a novel addition to our community.

This pool generates waves which comes crashing in to the sides of the pool to give the effect of a rolling sea. This accomplishment will surely increase the visitors to Buccaneer State Park.

The Wave Pool is one of only a few in the nation, unmatched anywhere on the Coast.

This beautiful new addition was marred by a careless error. As you face the front entrance of the Wave Pool, you notice that the American Flag and the Mississippi State Flag are flying at the same height.

The error is obvious to all Scouts or former military. The United States Flag is always displayed higher than a state flag.

I am sure that this is simply a careless error caused by an oversight. With a little work I hope that the architect of this beautiful new Wave Pool will see that this ugly mar is corrected.

Sincerely,
George B. Crull

Corps issues Mallini digging permit

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers' Mobile District office issued three permits in Hancock and West Harrison Counties during March.

"Wallace C. Walker of Pass Christian has been issued a regular permit to install, operate and maintain a four-inch water line and a three-inch pressure sewer line across Mallini Bayou near Pass Christian," said Corps spokesman Iris Way.

"The lines were placed by water jet one foot below the bottom contour of the bayou and run from the Timber Ridge subdivision to Harbor Island in the Pass Christian Isles subdivision," Way explained.

General permits were issued to Adam C. Gambel and Ray C. Boudreau in Hancock County during March.

"Gambel was issued a general permit to construct a pier running 100-feet from shore in Jourdan River between Blue Meadow and Stuart Roads," said Corps spokesman Ruby Britton.

Way reported, "Boudreau was issued a general permit to construct a 4-foot by 30-foot pier and a 30-foot bulkhead in an unnamed canal by Lot 19 in Jourdan River, Shores' subdivision."

Local unemployment continues to decline

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

Hancock County's 1980 unemployment rate continues to decline from a January figure of 6.5 percent to 5.5 percent in April based on Mississippi State Employment Service figures.

The county's April rate is well below the national unemployment figure of 6.6 percent and the state's rate of 6.4.

However, the current local unemployment rate is still above last year's 4.6 percent figure for the county.

Based on place of residence, employment figures show 390 people unemployed in Hancock County during April as compared with 400 county residents unemployed in March.

The number of employed people increased from 6,590 in March to 6,590 in April which was due to an increase in the civilian labor force from 6,990 in March to 7,080 in April.

Nonagricultural wage and salaried employees, based on place of work, increased from 7,690 people in March to 7,730 this past month.

Nonmanufacturing employment increased from 6,560 people in March to 6,600 people in April.

However, manufacturing employment decreased from 1,130 people in March to 1,120 people in April.

State employment figures for April showed 65,000 unemployed and 944,100 employed out of a civilian labor force of 1,009,100.

The initial unemployed insurance claims totaled 21,632 for April.

The counties having the highest rate of unemployment were Jefferson with a rate of 17.5, Sharkey with a rate of 13.7 and Noxubee with a rate of 12.6.

Lafayette, Oktibbeha, and Rankin Counties had the lowest rate of unemployment. Lafayette had a rate of 3.7, Oktibbeha had a rate of 3.4 and Rankin had an unemployment rate of 2.6.

Thirty six counties showed an increase in the unemployment rate for April while three remained the same. Forty-three counties had decreases in the unemployment rate for April.

Inquest Tuesday and the case is still open pending a report on articles sent to Washington, D.C. to be checked by the FBI from the State crime commission, Peterson said Wednesday.

"Our office received a call Sunday afternoon from Crosby Memorial Hospital, Piquette, saying that Ladner was dead on arrival at the hospital. The subject had been shot in the center of his chest apparently by a .22 caliber pistol," Peterson added.

Peterson stated, "We think he accidentally shot himself, but we won't know for sure until the report returns from the FBI."

Peterson, Investigator Delbert Seay, and the State Crime Commission are investigating the shooting.

that school patrons, teachers, and students may have direct placement on the agenda in certain circumstances.

Changes in the copying policy include provisions that the party requesting copies of school documents and records will receive the copies upon payment of a fixed fee, and the person requesting copies will receive the reproductions the day following the request, "unless the request is unduly burdensome."

The order signed by Roper directs the board to make the necessary changes in policy and payment of $3,500 within 14 days from Tuesday, probably at the board's regular meeting Monday, June 9.

The PTO is instructed to "deposit this sum ($3,500) in a separate account styled 'North Bay Air Conditioning Fund' to be located at the Gulf National Bank in Bay St. Louis...it being understood that this fund so awarded to the Plaintiffs shall not be commingled with any other funds of the North Bay PTO and shall be used solely for the purpose of air conditioning, capital improvements or students' educational materials at the North Bay Elementary School," the court order reads.

"All other costs of the Plaintiffs and Defendants shall be the responsibility of the party incurring them," the document adds.

James Cater, president of the Mississippi Federation of Teachers, said Tuesday his union "thinks it is ridiculous any group has to go to court to get rights which are guaranteed under the Constitution of the United States, but in doing so, the money has been well spent."

Cater explained that the AFT assisted the PTO in funding the litigation, adding "the Mississippi Association of Educators backed out before the suit was filed."

"We feel this was a fair ruling. We were not out to get money," Cater explained.

Cater said he expects the attorney fees for Cox and the partial payment for Blessey to come from district funds comprised of taxpayer money, but added "they (board members) should have to fork the money out themselves."

Doug Lowrance of Bay St. Louis, a supporter of community involvement in education, said Wednesday "the community owes the PTO and AFT a great debt of gratitude."

"This is a step in the right direction. Ground has been broken where it needed to be broken," Lowrance said. "We really needed to join the rest of the world, and I think this will help the community together again. There was quite a bit of division over this issue," the former North Bay PTO vice-president commented.

"We need community participation in schools as well as in other public and governmental areas, and I hope the results of this action prompted by the PTO and AFT will be taken by all other organizations which concern the community," he continued.

"I hope many people in the community will be granted the freedoms won by these two organizations in other facets of government," Lowrance added.

Dr. Carl Marburger, senior associate of the National Committee for Citizens in Education, based in Columbia, Maryland, said Tuesday he is "delighted" with the settlement.

"We are delighted with the decision, and we feel this is a victory for the democratic process that proves parents have a right to participate in decisions concerning their children's education," Marburger said.

"We regret that parents had to revert to legal action to obtain rights which should be offered to them naturally," Marburger said.

Marburger had written a letter to the editor of the Sea Coast Echo Feb. 7 stating that the PTO action against the board was "justified and necessary."

"We support parents working with the schools toward quality education. We also strongly advocate school administrations' openness with parents in the execution of public school business," Marburger wrote.

"We urge parents to work cooperatively with the school personnel to make their voices heard. When this approach is not successful, then legal action is sometimes justified and necessary. In this instance, we feel this is the case," Marburger added.

Following the settlement, Blessey said the full cost of his legal services is "privileged information," and would not disclose the total fee he charged the parents and teachers.

Gex's fees, which were not disclosed at the Biloxi courthouse, said the costs will be "a matter of public record" after he is paid by the school board. U.S. District Court Judge Dan M. Russell, originally expected to hear the case, requested himself earlier this year because of prior involvement with the school board as attorney for the City of Bay St. Louis.

Fourth suspect nabbed in drugstore robbery

By ELLIS CUEVAS

A fourth suspect allegedly involved in the December 10, 1979 armed robbery of Fahey Drug Company was apprehended Sunday, according to Hancock Sheriff Ronald Peterson.

Brian D. Colson, 21, of Julia Street, in Bay St. Louis, who had a warrant issued for his arrest in February, was spotted on the sand beach and the sheriff's office notified.

"We think he went to California and have been looking for Colson, as we feel our investigation is completed with his arrest in the December robbery," Peterson allowed.

Charles (Chucky) Cospelich, Bay St. Louis, was first person arrested in the armed robbery.

Peterson said, "We felt we did not have enough evidence for the January Grand Jury and at the time felt more investigation was needed."

An extensive investigation involving Peterson, Hancock Investigators Alvin Ladner and Delbert Seay and Bay Investigator Jim Mallini led to a February arrest of James Rogers III and John R. Veillon and the issuance of the warrant for Colson.

Rogers is charged as an accessory before the fact and is out on a $5,000 bond, Peterson said.

Police say Cospelich is out on a $20,000 bond.

Veillon is still in jail under a $20,000 bond, and bond for Colson was also set at $20,000 in the robbery involving drugs and about $50.00 in cash, police said.

Judge acclaims veterans in

mander; Floyd Breau, Post 77 commander; Gordon, Martin Blanchard, state adjutant, and Donald Decker, Memorial Day chairman, hear the state commander's address honoring America's veterans.

exposed to the teachings of patriotism, which emulates from the American Revolution or the Declaration of Independence.

That Declaration was the grandest and bravest document that was ever signed by the representatives of a people, particularly when cognizance is taken of the fact that such a movement was a declaration of war by thirteen weak, unorganized colonies without military stores, without wealth, without physical strength, against the most powerful kingdom on earth.

It was a declaration of war made when the British Navy—at that day the mistress of every sea—was hovering along the coast of America, looking for defenseless towns and villages to ravish and destroy.

This feeling of courage which lead to the declaration that every man has the right to make his living and pursue his own happiness in his own way in preserving the inherent rights of people did not spring from an idea on a moment's notice.

Let us recollect the heritage our forefathers gave us when they first arrived on American soil.

They were Puritans who did not have a great deal of political philosophy nor the least or best ideas of liberty.

They were narrow and did not understand what liberty meant, what religious liberty and political liberty was.

But they found out in a few years by trial and error.

During the first two years in America, the Pilgrims were deluded by their London bosses into trying a system of communal living.

It wasn't the Russian brand, but not far from it.

There was no private ownership of land, no reward for the industrious.

Everything was everybody's—and at the same time, nobody's.

And what happened? Well, the hard working and capable were imposed upon by the idle and inefficient.

There were complaints and counter complaints, bitterness, indolence and finally open revolt.

And so, in the third year, it was decided to try another system. Each man was assigned to his own plot of land and allowed to enjoy the fruits of his own labor.

The bountiful harvest that year was the state of a more abundant life for the Pilgrims, based on free enterprise and individual initiative.

One great lesson is to be learned from this experiment and that is that in spite of the fact that more than 300 years ago it was proven that communism just doesn't work in suitable form, there are millions of human beings in other countries who have lost or forsaken the privileges of freedom, free enterprise and education in all forms.

Wherever the Pilgrims went, they built school houses, introduced books and ideas of literature.

They believed that every man should know how to read and write and should find out all that his capacity allowed him to comprehend.

That is the glory of the Puritan fathers.

Soon however, they forgot in a little while what they had suffered, and they forgot to apply the principle of universal liberty - of toleration.

Some of the colonies did not forget it, however, and the Catholics of Maryland were to be the first people on the continent to declare universal religious toleration.

What did the soldier leave when he went to war in 1776? He left his wife and children on the fringe of the boundless forest, to defend themselves.

The soldiers of 1776 did not march away with music and banners. They went in silence, looked at and gazed after by eyes filled with tears.

They went to meet, not an equal but a superior - to fight five times their number; to make desperate stands; to stop the advance of the enemy; and then, when the ammunition gave out, seek the protection of rocks, rivers and of hills.

They proved a success in the greatest test of courage on the earth which is to bear defeat without losing heart.

That army is the bravest that can be whipped the greatest number of times and fight again. There were very, very few hearts then beneath that American flag that did not begin to think that the struggle was useless, that all the blood and treasure had been spent and shed in vain.

But there were some men gifted with that wonderful prophecy that fulfills itself and that wonderful magnetic power that makes heroes of everyone with whom they come in contact.

Even through freedom was obtained by the American Revolution, it was not a permanent one, as evidenced by the wars that followed - the Civil War, World Wars I and II, the Korean and Vietnam Wars, and now we are hearing the rumblings of another war, in which the liberty of peace loving countries are being threatened by the Russians.

It is in this vein that we reflect with solemn memory the symbol which our comrades in arms who gave their lives for our country held in such high esteem.

And that symbol is our flag. Remember that the hopes and aspirations, the joys and sorrows, the romance and chivalry of the human race are symbolized in national flags.

(EDITOR'S NOTE:

Following is the text of an address delivered by the Honorable Joseph Benvenuti, judge of the Bay St. Louis City Court, during Memorial Day services Monday at Cedar Rest Cemetery.)

Our Heavenly Father, Supreme Commander of us all, we deem this a fitting time to pay our respects to our departed comrades on this Memorial Day which had its beginning over 100 years ago on May 15, 1868 when General John A. Logan, then commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, issued an order appointing May 30th of that year as a day to respect comrades who died in defense of their country.

For many years after the civil war, the Grand Army of the Republic in the north and the Confederate veterans in the South took charge of Memorial Day ceremonies in their respective communities.

When these organizations became unable to carry on actively these rites, which included the decoration of all known veteran grave sites, the American Legion pledged its help to the perpetuation of the annual observance of Memorial Day as we now know it.

The Congress of the United States, through enactment of Public Law 96-363 on June 28, 1968 set aside the last Monday in May as Memorial Day.

Throughout the nation today, with the exception of organized veterans' groups, the holiday will go unnoticed.

Such is the sad tribute paid to the millions of men and women who have demonstrated their loyalty, their patriotism and their devotion to duty during times of national crisis.

It is those men and women whom we salute today by recalling the sacrifices they made and the American ideals for which they fought and died.

It is a time to thank the living and to memorialize those who died gallantly and who served, suffered, endured and gave their lives for their country.

Memorial Day should not be marked by boastful utterances or noisy celebrations of past victories.

Rather - it is a day on which Americans should unite and salute those who paid the supreme sacrifice of death for high ideals.

It is to them that we pay respectful homage in the most patriotic way possible, by public acknowledgment of their most unselfish and commendable services.

Those of us who are gathered here this morning are motivated by a feeling of loyalty and obligation to preserve the memories of our deceased comrades in the great wars safeguarding and transmitting to posterity the principles of justice, freedom and democracy.

This sense of obligation is measured by an expression of patriotism, which defined in its simplest form, means a devotion to the welfare of one's country.

There is more said and written about patriotism in general terms and very frequently subconsciously, than any other topic or subject...and yet, it is absolutely appalling when it is recognized that statistics prove there is less done about patriotism on an overall average than any other venture actively designed for the welfare of our country.

And why does this condition exist?

Well, patriotism is a conviction and feeling that cannot be acquired spontaneously by a whim of the mind or a notion that it is the fashionable thing to do.

Just as we are exposed to educational facilities and religious requirements of our faith by teachings and explanations, we have to be

PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS: The annual sale of Buddy Poppies by the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States has been officially recognized and endorsed by governmental leaders since 1922; and

WHEREAS: V.F.W. Buddy Poppies are assembled by disabled veterans and the proceeds of this worthy fund raising campaign are used exclusively for the benefit of disabled and needy veterans, and the widows and orphans of deceased veterans, and

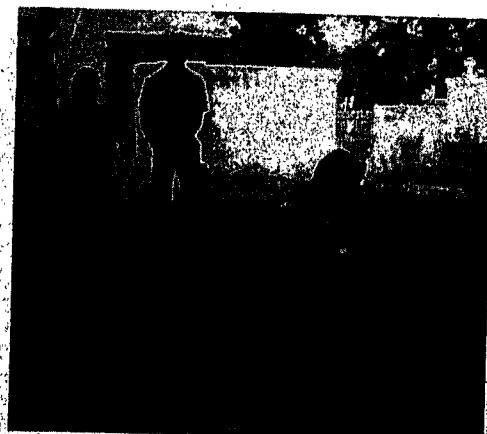

WHEREAS: The basic purpose of the annual sale of Buddy Poppies by the Veterans of Foreign Wars is eloquently reflected in the desire to "Honor the Dead by Helping the Living;" therefore

I, John Longo, Mayor of Waveland, hereby proclaim Saturday, May 31, Poppy Day and hereby urge the citizens of this community to recognize the merits of this cause by contributing generously to its support through the purchase of Buddy Poppies on the day set aside for the distribution of these symbols of appreciation for the sacrifices of our honored dead.

I urge all patriotic citizens to wear a Buddy Poppy as mute evidence of our gratitude to the men of this country who have risked their lives in defense of the freedoms which we continue to enjoy as American citizens.

men have used banner and other emblems of various kinds to express their hope, ideals, struggles, sacrifices and achievements.

When America chose her flag at the Continental Congress on June 14, 1777, she selected stripes of red and white that remind us of the colorful bands of the rainbow, the symbol of hope and promise; and took stars in a field of blue, suggestive of the heavens which through all eternity will endure.

The red proclaims the courage which the men and women of our race have always shown, - the courage that inspires men and women to face danger and to do what is right.

The red stands for valor when blood flowed from the bodies of Americans who defended its honor.

The white stands for liberty and hope and rectitude of conduct.

The stars tell a story of struggle and toil, of danger and hardship borne by the individual states.

Down through the years in which the flag has flown over us, it has been bearing a stirring message for each of us.

Whenever we think of our country as being great, the flag tells why it is great - because patriotic men and women have worked and struggled to make it great.

Whenever we think of our country as being the standard-bearer for the freedom of men, the flag tells us why it is so - because men suffered, sacrificed and gave up their lives in defense of liberty, right and justice and made it possible for us of today to enjoy these blessings.

Such is the message that our deceased comrades have for every one of us, as symbolized by our flag, and such is the message that will be given to all future generations.

And now let us stand with bowed heads in solemn memory of our heroic dead and offer a memorial prayer - Eternal God, we thank Thee for this hallowed soil. Make us worthy, we pray Thee, to guard our heritage of pride through all the years to come.

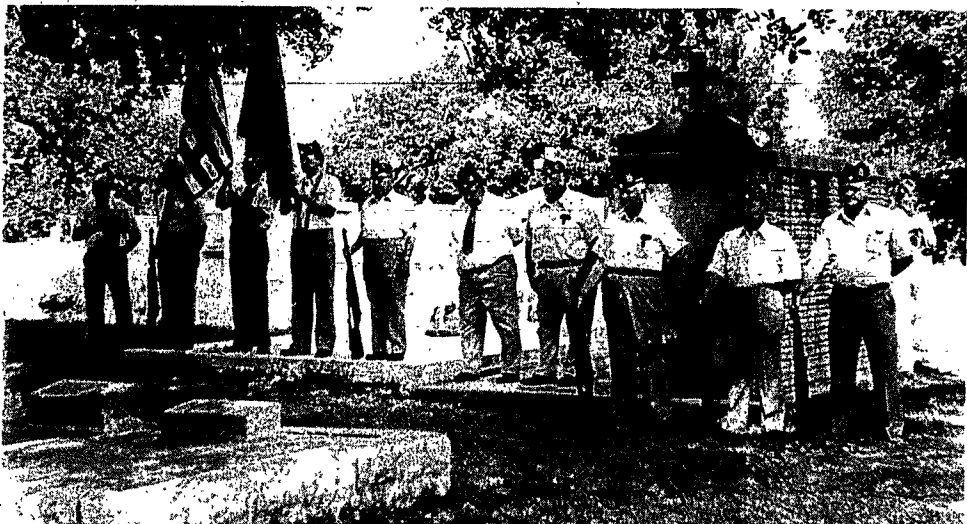

In memory of our departed comrades since the American Revolution to the present day, including those veterans on sick beds suffering mental and physical disability, we pledged to our beloved land the service and the same devotion shown by those who have gone before us.

And finally, Lord, we pray to Thee to secure to us evermore the peace and tranquility for which our comrades died.

We ask these things and pray to Thee in Christ's name, Amen.

J.E. Lolacano, former strength coach for varsity sports at Mississippi State University in Starkville, said Tuesday he will offer variety in exercises since recently assuming ownership of Lolacano's Health Club in Bay St. Louis.

Lolacano, a former Bay High gridiron star and head coach at Bay High and Gulfport High, said Tuesday he plans to make the rigors of weight loss and body toning "enjoyable and fun, especially for women."

"In this business, as in any business, variety is the key to success. Exercise for the purpose of losing weight should be fun and enjoyable,"

Lolacano said.

Lolacano left MSU this month to assume ownership and managerial duties at his family-owned health spa.

The club was previously owned by his brother, Anthony Lolacano.

"Jimmy (another brother) and the rest have done a fine job so far," J.E. Lolacano said Tuesday.

Lolacano had coached at Bay High School for seven years, at Gulfport High for four years, and had been Hancock North Central cager star Byron Ladner has signed a basketball scholarship to attend Clarendon College in Clarendon, Texas, according to Head Coach Mark Nixon.

Ladner, who was named All-South State as a sixth man in his junior year and All-Tourney in the Harrison Central Invitational this year, will attend the junior college beginning this summer.

Nixon, 25, said he is utilizing an "old-fashioned" method of coaching his team using discipline and attitude training in hopes of forming a winning team.

The coach said he has hopes of starting Ladner on a point position his freshman year rather than waiting until his sophomore term.

"Byron will fit in super-well, and I expect to play him much this season," Nixon said Wednesday.

"He is highly dedicated and the type of player we want around," the coach said of Ladner, who was named best defensive player and attributed with the most steals at HNC this year.

Nixon, only one year at the head coach position at Clarendon, said the junior college league to which the school belongs "is probably the top in the nation."

"Two or three of the teams in the conference have continuously been listed in the top 20 in the nation, the conference has had five or six players named All-Regional, and two players were named to the All-American Conference this season," Nixon said.

"I am trying to turn the team around since I arrive last July, and our principles are sort of different," he continued.

"We are highly concerned with character, and we center on the old-fashioned precept of combining discipline and attitude," he explained.

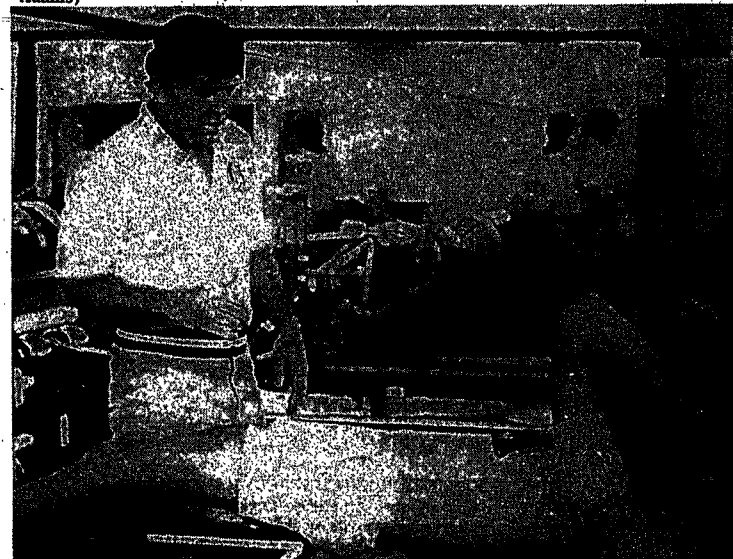

"We want to keep our players out of trouble in case they decide not to continue with basketball later in life. There are not too many players left in the country with the right attitudes, but we hope we can find our share," he added.

Ladner averaged 11.3 points per game during his senior year and was attributed with 4.5 assists per game.

He was coached by HNC Head Coach Roland Ladner.

McClain quarter-finalist in Junior Olympics

Mike McClain, a Bay-Kiln-Waveland Boxing Club member, was eliminated during the Junior Olympics in Shreveport, La. last weekend after battling his way to the quarter-finals.

His loss was contributed to fighting a more experienced pugilist, according to Head Coach John Whisenhunt.

"Mike was well trained and conditioned, but the loss is because he fought a more experienced boxer," Whisenhunt said.

"Mike is just 10-years-old with 4.5 months of experience under his belt. He has had 16 amateur fights and has accomplished much as a boxer," the coach said.

Heavyweight pugilist Nicky Slade accompanied Whisenhunt and McClain to the Junior Olympics, attended by more than 175 boxers in the two-ring extravaganza.

"This brings us to the end of a boxing season in which we traveled 6,280 miles, spent $3,820, and had four home matches," Whisenhunt said.

"We also awarded 130 donated trophies to boys from three states," he continued.

"We had 62 fighters from Hancock and Harrison Counties who saw action in the ring. We had a fine ringside doctor in Dr. M.J. Wolfe, and good coverage from the Sea Coast Echo," he added.

Whisenhunt pointed out that none of his boxers ever became involved in juvenile law infractions while boxing for the club.

"We have had six champions, five runners-up, and we have not been in operation for a year yet. Next year will be even better," the coach said.

"Our 1980-1981 boxing season will begin August 11 at 5 p.m. in the Bay St. Louis DAV building on Main Street. After 2.5 weeks of training, our boxers will be ready for a match in September," he continued.

"We still have matches in Harahan, La. on June 7, Bayou LaBatre, Ala. on June 27, Mobile, Ala. in July, and Jackson in August," he noted.

"As our season ends we have $32 in our treasury with no debts. We are looking forward to obtaining new sponsors to assist in obtaining our own boxing ring," Whisenhunt said.

plans variety at health spa varsity strength coach at the university for three years. "Coaching is a challenge, and once a person is involved in coaching and leaves he will always miss that challenge," Lolacano said Tuesday.

"Working with athletes is different than working with customers at a business such as this," the former coach said. "Athletes have a common objective to reach when working with weights, while here the reasons for exercising and lifting weights are varied," he explained. Improvements Lolacano plans at the health spa are a jogging course behind the spa, individual treatment of customers, and offering separate classes for students using barbells, or 'free weights.' "Once a person learns to lift barbells, everything falls into place. A person can learn any technique then," Lolacano said.

"Concentration is very important to get in good physical shape. A customer must know what part of his or her body to work on," the spa owner explained.

"I could take two people, one who knew which area of the body to concentrate on and the other not knowing which part to work on, and the one with concentration would accomplish more," Lolacano continued.

"Weight training is very important, because maladies such as heart disease strike obese people most often," he explained.

"Losing weight should be a very gradual process. An older person will have more difficulty losing weight, but may still get in good shape if it is done intelligently," Lolacano said.

"Most important is warming up and warming down before and after an exercise session," he explained.

"A person must go into exercise very easy, stretching the muscles before a hard workout and doing easy exercises afterward. If a person went into a hard workout without warm up and did not warm down afterwards, that person would be sore for a week. Going into exercise without preparation is a shock on the body," Lolacano commented.

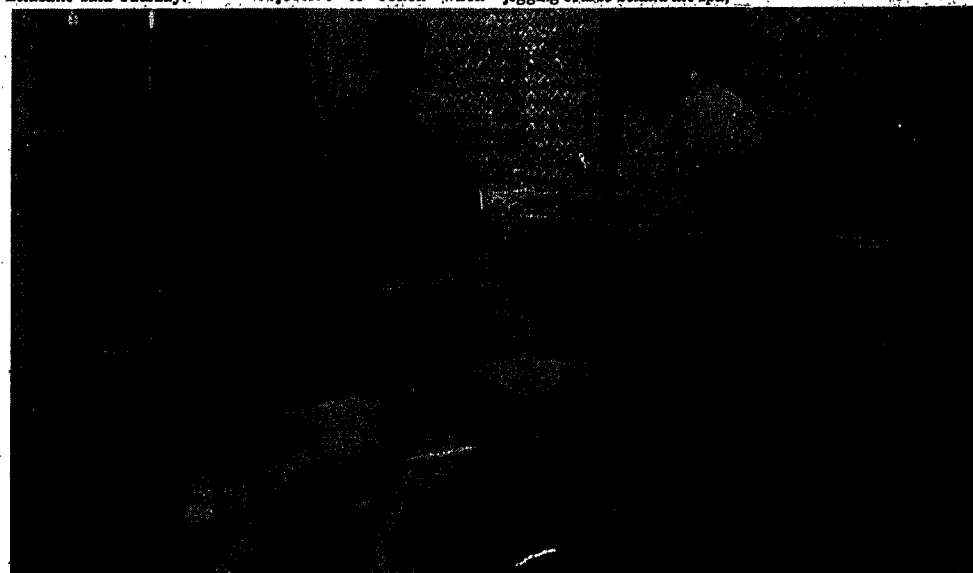

The former strength coach has established a set of guidelines to adhere to when practicing weight control.

"Most important, the exercise should be enjoyable, because if it is repetitious and dull the person will probably quit," he explained.

"The program should provide a good time to the person. Good equipment is another must," he continued.

"The psychological effect of self-satisfaction is tremendous. People who gain euphoria from using drugs should try weightlifting. Exercise has more advantages," Lolacano said.

He added that a special program at $20 a month will be offered to college and high school students this summer.

Nathaniel C. Williams
Born March 8, 1917
Died May 31, 1979

We saw you fading like a flower,
But could not make you stay.
We nursed you with tender kindness
Until God called you away.
Oh, Father dear, we love you
And our hearts ache for you still;
Forgotten by some others
But by us you never will.
Missed by: Wife, children,
sister,
and a host of relatives &

NCO Association seeks retirees

The Continuity Committee of the Non-Commissioned Officer's Association of the Mississippi National Guard is in the process of trying to identify all former enlisted members of the Mississippi Army and Air National Guard that have at least 20 creditable years of service, have separated from the Guard, and are receiving retired pay or awaiting age 60 to apply for retired pay.

Individuals meeting the above criteria or anyone having knowledge of former enlisted members meeting the above criteria are requested to contact CSM L. M. Caulfield, P.O. Box 9910, Jackson, MS. 39206.

Measures prevent theft

Stolen cars continue to be a major crime factor in Mississippi, the Mississippi Highway Safety Patrol reported today.

Walter Tucker, Chief of Investigative Services, said the following steps can be taken to prevent cars from being stolen:

Always lock your car, close the windows and take the keys;

Avoid leaving an extra set of keys in a "secret hiding place" such as the ashtray, over the visor or under the floor mat. Thieves know all of the places;

Always park in a well lighted area;

If possible, park in attended lots and leave only the ignition key, but not one with your key code number;

Lock packages and valuables in the trunk;

Install anti-theft devices;

Don't leave your car running to dash into a store or to warm it up in cool weather;

Don't leave registration papers in the car; and when selling your car, never let a stranger test drive it alone.

Tucker said, "Protect your investment by using these simple security precautions."

The Mississippi Judicial College will sponsor a seminar for Mississippi court reporters June 5-8 at the Hilton Hotel in Biloxi.

Public awareness, not regulation will improve nutritional values

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second of a series of four articles based on interviews with Dr. Reed R. Motley, University of Southern Mississippi professor of reading in the Department of Curriculum and Instruction, within the School of Education and Psychology. Motley has been chosen as a member of the national Nutrition and Learning committee sponsored by the International Reading Association.

Most Americans get their information about food from commercials by large food corporations, according to the Center for science in the Public Interest (CSPI), which Ralph Nader has called one of the best advocates for "more humane and productive" food policies.

The group probably most influenced by large food commercials are children.

The children's food market in the United States is estimated to be a $500 million to one billion dollar industry, according to university of Southern Mississippi professor Dr. Reed Motley, member of the national committee on nutrition and learning, sponsored by the International Reading Association.

A Nutrition Scoreboard drawn by CSPI shows some of the often advertised children's favorites ranking quite low in nutritional value. The center gives ice cream a rank of -18, hot dogs plus 6, an average candy bar at -55 along with Kool-aid and one of the lowest ranking goes to carbonated soft drinks with -92.

On the opposite end of the scale and probably on some children's hate list are collard greens at plus 126, baked sweet potatoes plus 62 and cantaloupe plus 99. Taste, as far as kids and many food companies are concerned, frequently overrules nutritional value, according to Motley.

CSPI, which former Food and Drug administration lawyer Peter Hutt credits with "performing a watchdog function...that government has slipped up on," and the group, Action for Children's Television, are confronting the food companies and the FDA about the quality and value of food.

But the problems or poor nutrition begins long before children understand their first commercials, Dr. Ben Feingold in the "Journal of Learning Disabilities" stated "any compound (such as artificial colorings and flavorings and sweeteners) whether ingested, inhaled or injected has the potential of being toxic to the fetus."

"It is conceivable," says Feingold, "that these substances can induce alterations in the organism which can later manifest as behavioral disturbances, not necessarily obvious at birth."

After the child is born, the taking of synthetic colors and flavors often continues in the form of pediatric vitamin drops, "a rich source" of these compounds. Feingold developed a diet free of these substances and noticed an improvement in the children's learning and behavioral patterns.

The older a child becomes the longer the period before the child responds to Feingold's diet. He observed that the highest incidence of failure to respond to the diet was among adolescents.

Motley received a letter from a junior high school health teacher who asked her class to keep a record of everything they ate in a 24-hour period. He reviewed the records and found that half ate no breakfast and most who did, ate sugar-laden pastries and cereals.

Most of the class had mid-morning and afternoon snacks averaging about two soft drinks, two or more candy bars and a pack of gum.

The evening meal appeared to be two students' only or most balanced meal.

Motley cited studies of high IQ children who, when given tests after a sugar-oriented breakfast suffered drops in their IQ scores, worked more slowly and less efficiently and had problems with technical problems and writing skills.

"Dr. Arnold Bremner in 'Clinical Pediatrics' said children on Feingold's sugar and additive-free diet showed a decrease in hyperactivity, distractibility and improves handwriting and math skills."

Motley again cited a number of health problems possibly created or effected by sugar consumption: diabetes, obesity, tooth decay, mental disturbances, and stomach ailments. These, he said, in turn effect mental functioning and behavior patterns.

"Once people become conscious of what they're eating, and coupled with the current emphasis on getting in shape," Motley said, "the public will hopefully force the food companies to produce nutritious food."

Financial management main prescription against inflation

By JANE HONEYCUTT
Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service

(EDITORS NOTE: In these times of rising inflation, many Mississippi families are finding it increasingly difficult to stretch income. This first of a seven-part series of stories on Family Money Management explores ways families might use financial planning to cope with the times.)

Five of every 100 families can't make payments regularly. Sometimes their failure to make payments has nothing to do with their incomes, but rather with managing their incomes.

Bonita Bridges, area consumer management specialist, Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service, said families with financial problems seldom discuss money. It's as though they think their problems will disappear if they ignore them. Making financial plans or budgets helps people manage income better. Mrs. Bridges called budgeting a "prescription against inflation."

"There's no such thing as an average budget," she stresses. "Each family is different, so its needs will differ. Every good financial plan includes a savings plan and money for unexpected expenses. Americans save only four to six percent of their incomes, but financial experts recommend saving from two to six months' take-home pay. At the least, a family of four needs about $50 a month for unexpected expenses."

Mrs. Bridges said family financial plans mirror values because these values determine how they spend their money. She said no two families are alike in size, age, taste, talents, occupation and income.

"A family that places a high value on friendship may spend more for entertaining and social activities than one which places a higher value on saving for the down payment on a home," she points out.

"I counseled one couple whose financial plan included an almost astronomical sum for the wife's clothing. When I questioned them about the unusually clothing expenditure, I learned that both think clothing is important."

"The wife said she likes clothing. It's a way of showing who I am." The husband agreed. He said: "It is important to me that people view my wife as one of the best-dressed women in town." The management specialist said people making financial plans should decide which goals are important now. She said they must then face the reality of how much they can spend after necessary deductions. Necessary deductions include items like taxes and social security payments.

As a starting point, Mrs. Bridges suggested reviewing cancelled checks for the last six months and categorizing them. Then list necessary expenses and allocate a certain amount for each item. Don't forget to list items which come only once or twice a year—insurance payments, taxes, car tags, vacation and Christmas.

Then decide who will write checks and balance bank statements. A wife needs credit, too, so she may wish to open an account of her own.

Both adults and children need "allowance" money they can spend for personal needs. But spending for personal needs should come only after obligations are met and living expenses absorbed, added the money management expert. She said rewards of budgeting are great. They include better marriage and family relationships, fewer calls from creditors, reaching goals, developing discipline, reducing impulse buying and greater satisfaction with family income.

When one or two goals are met—such as replacing an appliance or finishing an education—families should reevaluate their budgets. "Just keeping a record is not enough," Mrs. Bridges warns.

"For a budget to be successful, you must plan before you spend. Re-evaluate the budget each day period."

YOU AND YOUR PET

CANINE PARVOVIRUS

During the summer of 1978, there occurred an unfamiliar virus disease of dogs on at least three continents, Australia, United Kingdom and North America. The disease manifested itself similarly to feline (cat) panleukopenia infection. Severe infections have been reported in pet shops, kennels, and commercial breeding operations.

The disease is manifested by enteritis or inflammation of the intestinal tract, with vomiting and diarrhea of variable degrees and has been observed in dogs of all ages.

Mycaditis or inflammation of the heart muscles has also been seen in puppies. Other signs include loss of appetite, fever, and low white cell counts.

The disease has not reached epidemic proportions in Mississippi, but most veterinarians have observed one or more cases in their practice. It is not transmissible to man or other domestic animals.

Prevention of parvovirus infection in dogs can be obtained by a series of two injections of approved vaccine given two to three weeks apart for all dogs of eight weeks of age and older. If you plan to house your pet at a boarding kennel, it should have the vaccination at least 10 days before boarding.

It is also wise to have your pet checked for parasites and other immunizations brought up-to-date by your local veterinarian.
